The General Assembly,

Bearing in mind that at least four preambulatory clauses are needed.

Guided by the belief that concordance is necessary in certain situations.

Fully aware that there are now four preambulatory clauses, as needed.

 - a. Emphasizing that there are no limits to sub-clauses, but that sub-sub-sub clauses are not allowed,
 - b. Encourages for double spacing, 12 size font and concise writing,
 - c. Further supporting the lack of limits to sub-clauses while discouraging repetition,
2. Reminds that no line counts are needed,
3. Proclaims that the Best Written Resolution award will go to one that is cogent,
4. Discourages the use of Comic Sans and other informal fonts, but supports the use of formal fonts such as Times New Roman.
5. Takes note of how there are now five operative clauses, as needed.
